The Person Behind Emails

Let me introduce myself. Cezary Giluk. I am the person behind emails and news you are receiving. I started delivery of safety training in Ontario in 2002, then BC, and in Alberta from 2011. 5 to 7 years of hands-on experience in construction and a good few years as a field safety. When I teach, I can relate to my first-hand construction and field safety experience.

I took a lot of training, seen excellent, good, and bad delivery of courses. Based on those observations I made myself a promise: I will never deliver a boring or not interesting course (and I attended those as a student). And I keep my promise. My courses are engaging, kept at a good pace, and I pass information to students based on real life, not just Internet knowledge of construction environment.

When I worked for one of the companies, I delivered over 300 of the same orientations. Even after so many deliveries, quite often after it ended, or when one of my students met me at the lunch room, they thanked me for, as they said, one of the best orientations they ever attended. And those were seasoned workers who took a lot of safety orientations at a lot of different sites.

So, I welcome you to attend one of my courses, or to book training at your company location. You can find more about the most popular courses I deliver at <http://edmontontraining.oscts.ca/>. For the last 10 years I spent around 90% of my time training North of Fort McMurray, so if you need to have training delivered there, contact me (780-983-0155 or cezary.giluk@oscts.ca).
